PineStone's sale ends month of speculation

by Andy Holloway

One month after going into receivership, PineStone Resort and Conference Centre has been bought by a group headed up by local businesswoman Anne Larcade.

The group, Destination Management Limited, bought the resort for an undisclosed amount of money, rumoured to be around the $6 million mark, on April 30. The Bank of Montreal had been directing the resort's financial affairs since the previous owners One-2-One Corporation placed it in receivership.

"It is a wonderful opportunity. It has great potential," said Larcade stressing the fact that the new consortium is a group effort with at least 10 backers, some of whom are local. The backers will be introduced to the community later in June, however several rumours can be laid to rest. Four Seasons hotel chain is not involved and neither are Hong Kong interests. As well, Wayne Gretzky and John Candy who were rumoured to be involved are definitely not.

A spokesperson for Destination Management said it will be business as usual for the PineStone while the team evaluates how the resort is run. "We're not saying there won't be change, but it won't be massive."

Manhunt ends with two arrests

by Jerry Grozelle

Two armed robbery suspects were apprehended late Thursday at the close of an intensive police search south of Coboconk.

Terrance Wilson, 21, of Mariposa Township and Frederick Pullen, 23, of Lindsay are been charged with robbery, possession of prohibited weapons (two counts), use of a firearm to commit an indictable offense, possession of stolen property, pointing a firearm, aggravated assault and possession of weapons dangerous to the public peace.

Durham Regional police initiated the pursuit of suspects near Cannington between 9:30 and 10 a.m. Thursday. Lindsay district OPP officers were called to assist in the chase at about 9:50 a.m. when the suspect vehi-

Castaway Comedy

If Gilligan's Island tickles your funnybone, The Highlands Little Theatre production of Cast Off Five will have you rolling with laughter. Dianne Hagerman, Lisa Kowaltschuk, Ann Creelman, Janet Hurley and Falina Pierson find themselves stranded on a desert island where they pass the time chatting, arguing and sharing secrets around a makeshift card table. Cast Off Five is the final segment of a triple comedy which will be staged at the high school in Haliburton village this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Please see page 6 for more about this theatre production.

Local group buys ailing resort

That should bring a sigh of relief from the 95 current employees that PineStone has. Management members and the regular staff have already met the new owners and the response was apparently good, especially since the new owners plan to keep the resort open all year round.

As well, original shareholders will be reinstated as members and will be given some form of package, although details were not released. "We'll be letting them know how important they really are," said the spokesperson.

However, one change has already happened. Delta which had been running the resort's day-to-day affairs, left when the resort changed hands.

"The presence of Delta was such that it was not on site," said the spokesperson. "We believe in terms of direct management, you have to be on site."

The new team brings much needed optimism to Haliburton's largest resort which has struggled from day one. PineStone has never turned a profit and its original investors have lost money. The Bank of Montreal was owed $6.5 million when it took over control.

PineStone manager Al Richards said the transition has been a smooth one so far.

"The vision that has been brought to the table by Destination Management is similar to the vision we've been working on as a team for a while. PineStone is unique in what it can offer clients. It's not a typical high-rise hotel. We can offer different things to different clients," said Richards.

The key thing the new group can offer the resort besides a much-needed cash flow is connections. There is nothing wrong with what's here. The problem is that it has to be taken to the market," said the spokesperson.

In order to do that, the group has connections with travel wholesalers who package visits to the retail travel agents. Travel wholesalers traditionally ignore rural markets in favour of urban centres like Toronto or Niagara Falls. The new owners said they have networks within the travel industry to combat that problem, are working with the government to attract visitors from Asia and have lined up three travel writers to visit this summer. As to why the new owners can make the PineStone work, Richards said it will be because Canada is becoming known as an environmentally friendly place.

"The environment plays an important part of the decision making process. That's why Canada appeals to other areas and I can't think of any place more environmentally friendly than the PineStone."

The spokesperson said if the PineStone becomes a success then the group will look to add other resorts to its roster.

Three level system set for grade nine

by Andy Holloway

If grade nine students wish to take advanced level courses the following year they will be required to demonstrate some success at tackling difficult questions.

At the education committee meeting last Tuesday a three level question system was recommended for grade nine students entering destreamed classes next year. Each student will be required to answer all of the average questions (called B level) on each test or assignment. They will then have a choice to answer either difficult questions (A) or easy ones (C). Those choosing the easy ones will be recommended for the general stream in grade 10.

"They have to show us that they've attempted A level and had some success with it before we can tell the parents their son or daughter should take advanced classes," said Superintendent of Education Dale Robinson.

However, students and parents still have the option of refusing the board's recommendation. Parents will be kept informed on their child's progress throughout the year so if a student's answering patterns change the parent can help.

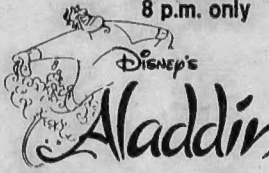

The move should answer questions that destreaming would water down the education quality for all students said Robinson. Those who want to go to post-secondary school would be able to answer the advanced questions while those who just want a high school diploma can also go at their own pace.

Trustees showed concern that students would be punished for trying 'A' level questions and doing poorly and so their marks would reflect that. Robinson said students would not be penalized, but be encouraged to do what level they can. Unmotivated students or those performing below their intelligence will be a challenge for teachers, but they are now as well said Robinson. He hopes the communication improvements between high school and parents will help overcome that problem.

"If everyone is doing what they can be expected to do except the student then their fate will be what

Manager bumped in Hydro shuffle

by Russ Duhaime

Ontario Hydro's cost-cutting measures have finally touched down in Minden and it looks as though the Minden area manager may be out of a job.

John Lane was officially notified last week that his job is being eliminated as a result of a re-organization that will align the Minden, Bancroft and Tweed Hydro offices under one manager.

At this point in the process there is no plan to close the Minden office or to reduce the front-line staff, says Lane. So far, Lane says only one administrative position at the Minden office is being eliminated -- his own.

Lane, a 28-year employee with Hydro, transferred to the Minden office in 1989. Although he has been notified that his job is becoming extinct, he doesn't know yet when his last day will come. The province's 45 area managers are eligible to apply for the 15 remaining positions and Lane says the competition is stiff.

The move is part of a province-wide reorganization that will see Hydro's 45 area offices combined into 15 management units.

Although the new units are being called utilities, Lane says this reorganization is not a conversion of the offices to public utility commission. Instead, he says this move is designed to provide "front line" workers with more authority to make decisions. The move eliminates one level of Hydro's management hierarchy.

Hydro has been implementing structural changes over the past few months in an effort to cut costs and enable the utility to limit its rate increases to the rate of inflation until the end of the decade.

"It started at the top and is coming down through the system," says Lane.

How deep into the system this reorganization will reach is anyone's guess. However, Lane says Hydro has made a commitment to maintain or improve the current level of service enjoyed by Hydro customers.

A statement prepared for area managers says further details of the restructuring will be made available as the process continues. "While this could include staffing changes within local work groups, Ontario Hydro continues to place a high priority on maintaining high visibility with our customers."

The combination of the Minden, Bancroft and Tweed offices creates a new utility that will serve 47,500 customers and employ 185 workers.

cle, a brown Suburban, entered their jurisdiction. The suspects abandoned their car and fled into a wooded area about three miles south of Coboconk.

Here, the manhunt intensified. Police cordoned off the area, residents were evacuated from their homes and buses from the nearby school were cancelled or rerouted.

OPP officers from Coboconk and Minden, as well as the Tactical Rescue Unit from Barrie, the Canine units from OPP Districts 7 and 8 and two police helicopters were called in to assist. Several hours later, both suspects were apprehended.

The pursuit started after the report of a robbery in Cannington where two armed men wearing balaclavas forced their way into a Cameron Street East residence and assaulted and robbed two people at gunpoint.

The pursued vehicle was abandoned in a private laneway a couple of miles south of Coboconk and the suspects fled on foot.

During the chase, two sawed-off shotguns were thrown from the pursued vehicle.

School board gets hit again

by Andy Holloway

The province has downloaded the costs of yet another program onto local school boards.

Ontario's Ministry of Education had been paying a licensing fee to allow teachers to photocopy copyrighted material to CANCOPY, a collective representing Canadian writers and publishers as well as foreign rights-holders.

The current license expired on April 30 and the ministry has told boards that it will not renew the license due to its own "budgetary difficulties." The move means if Haliburton's board of education wants to legally allow its teachers to photocopy magazines, newspapers and books it will cost about $4,800, or an average of $2 per student.

At their education committee meeting last Tuesday, trustees decided to recommend to the board that it not renew the license this year, but consider renewing it for the start of the next school year.

"Nobody budgeted for it because nobody knew about it," said Superintendent of Education Dale Robinson. "It's just another example of how things get downloaded from the province onto the boards."

A letter from CANCOPY suggests that the board pay a $2 fee per student, but does not give any indication how that total was derived, which also bothered Robinson. The board could opt to pay on an individual basis with copies ranging from four to seven cents, but the bookkeeping and time involved would wipe out any potential savings.

Robinson told trustees that the Ontario Public School Board's Association is fighting the move by the province, but added the association will probably not be successful.

The decision not to renew, which trustees said is financially justified since there is little fat in the board's budget, may also affect the quality of education said Robinson.

"If you reduce the number of resources as not having the license would make us do, then it makes the program less interesting, less meaty and so on," said Robinson.

Teachers can still photocopy materials, but it would be against the law and also against board policy. Trustee Lloyd Griffiths said a written notice should be sent to all teachers and principals and a written acknowledgment from each teacher stating they understand the rule should be received by the board. This would help protect the board if a teacher were sued for copyright infringement. However, Robinson said the courts may still find the school board liable despite such preventive steps.

... this play's no castoff

The Highlands Little Theatre members are working overtime to put the finishing touches to the third leg of a triple comedy which will hit the stage for the first time this Thursday.

Audrey McBain's Cast Off Five is billed as an "uproarious play" and judging by laughs stemming from last week's rehearsal, the billing is bang on. Dianne Hagerman, Lisa Kowaltschuk, Ann Creelman, Janet Hurley and Falina Pierson are the five card-playing castaways. The fivesome engage in a marathon card party, rife with amusing banter, while awaiting their rescue.

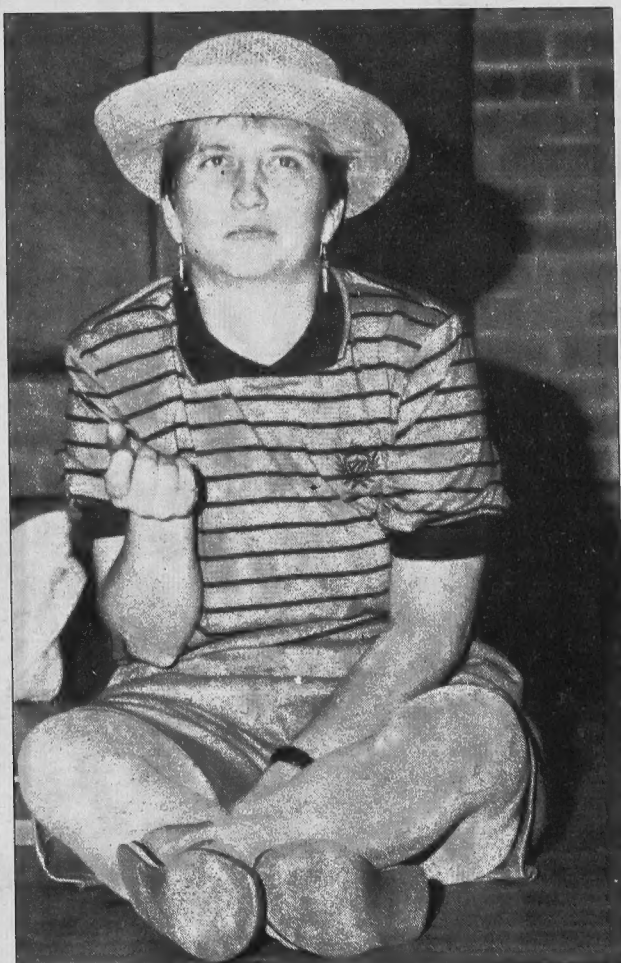

Rounding out the comedy trio are two familiar plays. Happy Trails and The Three Million Dollar Lunch won acclaim and awards at last year's EODL stage festival in Haliburton. The casts of these comedies are also hard at work polishing their lines in preparation for the three-day run which begins Thursday at the high school in Haliburton village.

Tickets for the shows are available at the door or can be bought in advance at the Storeroom in Minden or at Paulette's in Haliburton.

Laxton township holds its tax line down

by Jerry Grozelle

Taxpayers in Laxton, Digby and Longford Townships won't face any increase in the municipal mill rate for 1993. The actual municipal share of the $1,471,985 budget is $323,214, or .0456 percent less than last year.

As usual, the lion's share of the tax dollars will go to education levies. The Victoria County Board of Education will get nearly $931,000 and the Separate School Board's share is almost $58,000.

Victoria County's bite will be just over $160,000.

The municipality's operating budget has been set at $234,950 and its capital budget is $88,264.

Capital budget items include reserve funds, most of which won't be spent this year. Some of the items in the capital budget include $15,000 for a Roads Department equipment reserve.

"This is something new that we've never done before," said Councillor John Macklem. "Next time we go to buy something like a grader, we'll al-

School loop completed

Archie Stouffer Elementary School teacher Penny Obee has been appointed vice-principal of J.D. Hodgson Elementary School effective in September.

Obee has been working in the Haliburton school system since 1977, spending the last nine years at Archie Stouffer. Obee has an extensive background in curriculum planning and development at both the county and provincial level. She has played a role in many of the board's planning committees, such as the Special Education Review and Intermediate Science.

The move completes the board's executive loop. Obee replaces Dave McKinlay at JDH, who has moved to Archie Stouffer to replace vice principal Judy Tomlinson-Ross who moved to Victoria Street as principal replacing Michael Burke who became the high school's vice-principal taking over for Gary Brohman who became the principal after Peter Forgrave transferred to Archie Stouffer because principal McKay Brydon switched to J.D. their fate will be," said Robinson.

Committee chair Wendy Ladurantaye said the changes are good and that she can sense an excitement and renewed interest at the high school teacher level. So often children will work at an average level and not realize their potential she said adding this system will allow students to try the harder questions and push themselves.

Robinson said a similar system may be implemented for grades seven and eight in the future to make the middle grades more uniform. However, students will not participate in a three level marking system because the board does not want to put labels or pre-judgements on younger students.

ready have the money allocated."

The Roads Department also has another $15,750 set aside for the purchase of a chipper, grader blades and other equipment.

The library reserve for renovations to the new facility has been allocated another $9,000, to be added to the existing $11,000 for a total of $20,000.

It has been determined that the municipal building is in need of a new furnace so $6,000 has been set aside for that eventuality.

A reserve fund for a training room for the fire department has been established for some time and another $5,000 will be added in 1993.

The forest fire reserve will be brought up to the requirements with an injection of $3,500. Several other items have been budgeted for, leaving a maximum of almost $20,000 to complete the renovations to the council chambers, if necessary.

Council for the townships passed its 1993 budget at last week's regular council meeting even in the face of impending provincial funding cutbacks.

"Let's pass the budget as it is and worry about the provincial cutbacks when they (the province) finally decide what they are going to do," Macklem said when he made the motion to pass the budget as drafted.

During the discussions regarding provincial funding cutbacks it was suggested that one way to make up the difference would be to raise the cost of plumbing permits and dog tags. In reply, Macklem quipped: "We'll have to pass a by-law requiring two bathrooms and four dogs in every household in LDL."

Celebrating education

Dozens of elementary school students all done up in costumes marched through downtown Minden Friday in celebration of education week. The parade capped a week of special activities designed to draw attention to the schools.

Attention, however, is something that schools have not been lacking over the past few weeks. Locally, the education system has been labelled inefficient and ineffective. Deliberations surrounding the school board budget have spawned criticisms of teachers and teaching methods. The education system has been labelled inefficient and ineffective.

From an international perspective, Canada's education system appears to be getting a failing grade. When stacked up alongside their counterparts in the rest of the world, Canadian students rank ninth in math and science skills.

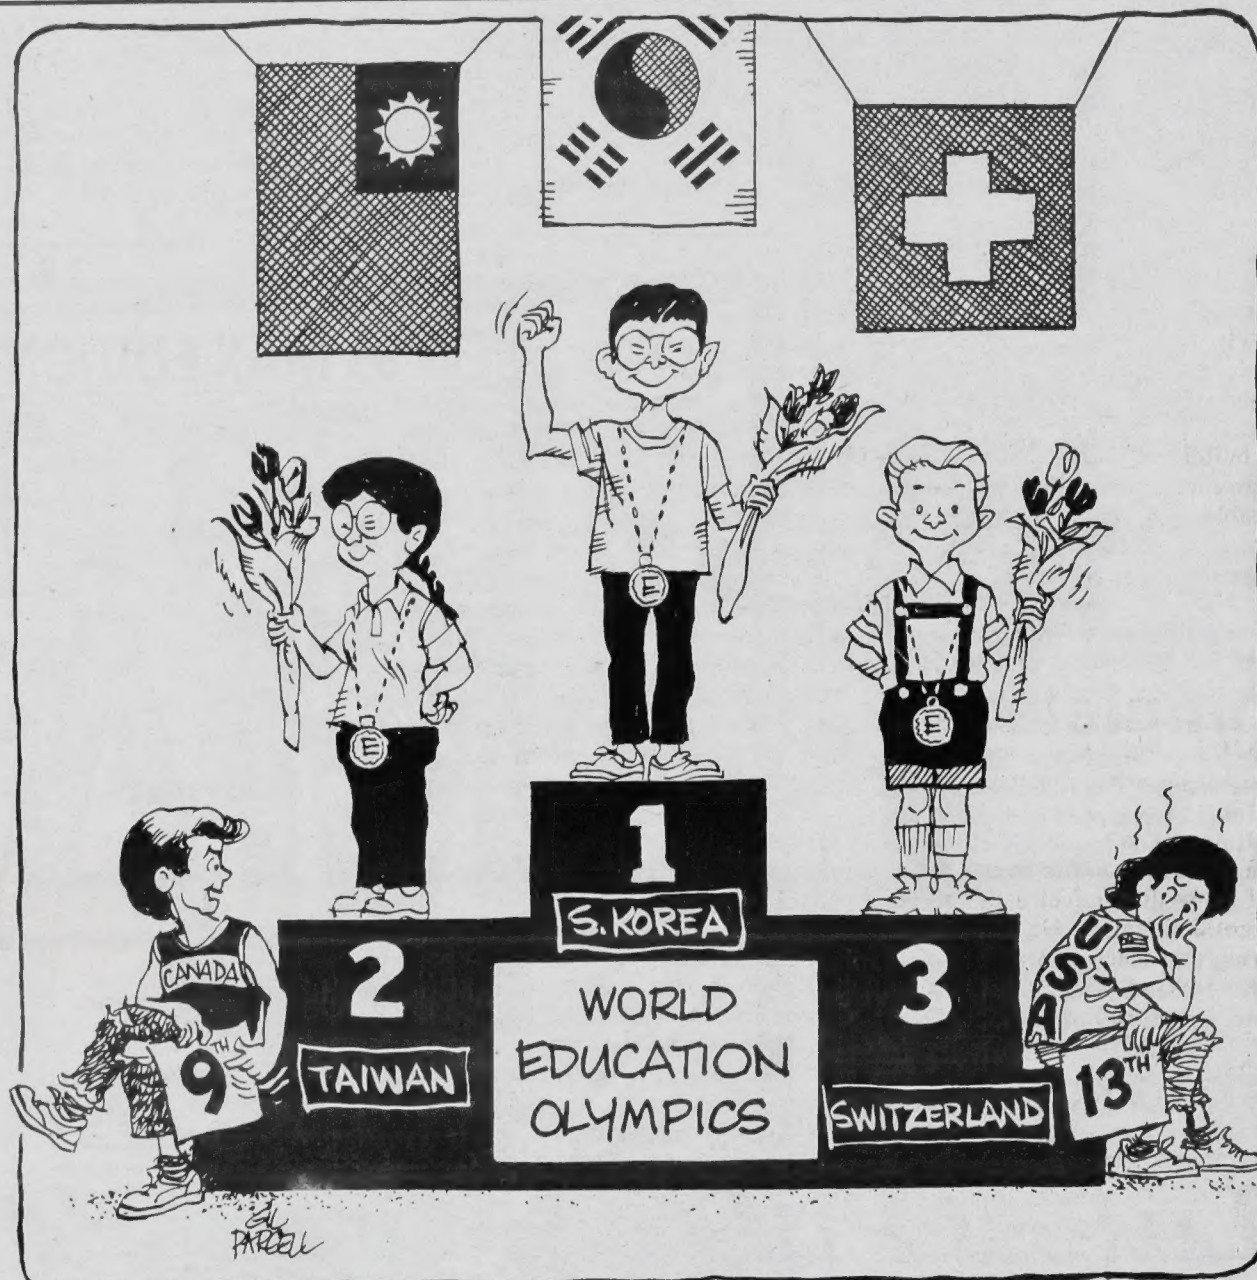

It's not a rosy picture. But we have to wonder if the picture is a reflection or a perception of what's happening in our schools.

The validity of international ratings, for example, is suspect. Canada's low rating in these tests is partially due to the fact that children are encouraged to stay in school longer. In many other countries, students with low academic potential are either out in the work force or begging in the streets. As a result, the international ratings are a comparison of apples and oranges — Canadian students versus other countries' elite.

In regard to the cost of education, we do not deny that teachers and education administrators are well paid. Beginning teachers receive $31,000 per year, which is well above the county average. However, if teachers are overpaid, then so are police officers, ministry employees, Bell employees and Hydro workers.

On the local level, this county is fortunate to have teachers who have a sincere interest in the welfare of the students they teach. Some are better teachers than others, but for the most part, the Haliburton County Board of Education employs a staff of outstanding educators who utilize a variety of teaching styles to turn out students who are well prepared for future endeavors.

Education is something to celebrate in Haliburton County. The bright smiles on the children and parents who lined Main Street for Friday's parade are evidence of the pride we have in our students and our education system.

Who is to blame for lake polluting boaters if not the cottagers?

Editor:

In regard to the recent articles on the province's planning reforms which have been supported by the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Association:

I would first have to ask who are the cottagers that FOCA is representing. Sewell mentions that septic beds are of concern. Over the past three years, I have heard nothing but complaining from cottagers after the Ministry of Environment found their septic systems defective. A nearby major lake chain was found to be 75 per cent defective. Does FOCA know where coliform goes?

In regard to boating regulations — don't 90 per cent of cottages own a boat and motor? I see one at almost every dock. Don't you?

So just who are these irresponsible, lake-polluting, bad-mannered boaters and cottagers that need regulating?

I get it — they must be non-FOCA members. FOCA is just using lake associations members to make political headway. Lake associations can hardly be considered credible when their own members have been found to be the worst offenders.

Tax coalition message lost amid controversy

Editor:

The past few weeks have certainly made me aware of how "news" is really only the writer's opinion in many cases. The presentation I made to the School Board was to emphasize one point: No new taxes. Hold the line. But everyone is so afraid of offending someone that the message was bent entirely out of shape.

We are being screwed into the ground with taxes. We can't continue. I was ready to build an 8000 square-foot building to house the new Epsilon Electronics store but in view of a probable tax hike municipally of about 30% next year, and for the next few years a cumulative hike of probably 100% in order to pay for the Archie Stouffer school project, the Board of Education computer program, the Haliburton Hospital, and who knows what else, I changed my mind. If I can sell the property, it may pay the taxes at the rate we are going.

It is amusing to hear civil servants of all levels say "Boy I'll be glad when this recession is over!" What a joke! They didn't feel a thing! They still got their raises. No layoffs. Considering that teachers and administrators are making over $50,000, in some cases $78,000 and in a few cases here in this county over $100,000 per year plus 25% benefits, I wonder what justifies these salaries. But, I can honestly say that every person in Halibur-ton is getting what they deserve. We are paying the price for not getting off our asses and keeping an eye on them when it was possible to control it. Now it is out of control.

I spoke to a few (two) people who said they didn't mind paying higher taxes as long as it went for education. To them I say, please pay my taxes too if it makes you feel that good.

In closing, I find it sad that local newspapers dare not be controversial for fear of losing advertisers. To those editors of yellow journalism, I place you in the same regard as all other Canadians who want the state to provide a warm and fuzzy comfort zone. Anyone who does not question why, deserves to be herded like sheep and eventually stripped of all value, to be consumed.

Why not double or even triple the taxes and have everybody in the county at a base salary of $50,000 per year to start? And I and any other sensible Canadians will watch from Costa Rica while the warm and fuzzy society crumbles in bankruptcy and is devoured by Huns.

Archie Dobbins

Editor's note: The municipal tax hike (including the county's and school board's share) for 1993 will be about five per cent not 30. Only one member of the school board makes over $100,000. The pay range for teachers in this county is between $31,143 and $65,293.

Study Time

School is fun, but it's also a lot of hard work. Jason Hales, a grade 4 student at Archie Stouffer Elementary School gets down to business during education week.

Latest PhD papers should be tarred

The hardest work I ever did, as I think I've mentioned in this space before, was roofing. Tar and gravel. Searing heat, noxious fumes, endless wheelbarrows of crushed stone and pre-drawn starting times to avoid the wrath of the midday sun.

Toughest job I ever had. So I guess it follows that the toughest man I ever met was a roofer.

His name was Leon, but everybody called him Frenchie. He had eyeglasses held together by friction tape and fingers that looked like he could drive spikes with them. The skin on his face was the colour of saddle leather. He was tireless. The rest of us constantly moaned about the heat. Not Frenchie. He never took off his shirt (smart roofers don't) — didn't even undo the top button or roll up his sleeves. But he could work from four in the morning til after the sun went down without breaking into a sweat. Then he'd go out and drink a case of beer, play his harmonica into the wee hours and do it all over again the next day.

I often think of Frenchie when I'm faced with something I don't think I can handle — be it next week's column, an unfriendly dog or a stretch of white water in my canoe. Then I imagine what Frenchie would do. How he'd take his index finger, poke his eyeglasses a little more firmly onto the bridge of his nose — and then just go ahead and do it.

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

After which I give it my best shot.

I was thinking of Frenchie again the other day when I was reading over the latest selection of PhD dissertations.

You know about these things? Scholars who want to be able scribble a 'p' and 'h' and a 'd' after their name are required to work up and exhaustive document that explores some hitherto neglected knothole in the groves of Academe. It's a chore that customarily takes years to accomplish. Most theses run to about 75,000 words — somewhere between 250 and 300 pages. That's a good sized novel...but there's one important difference between a novel and a doctoral thesis.

People generally read novels. Nobody ever voluntarily reads PhD theses.

Small wonder. Listen to some of the titles turned in this year:

Elvis Presley: All Shook Up.

Communication Use in a Motorcycle Gang.

And my personal favourite — one that deserves a Guinness Book of Records listing just for its title: I Am You, You Are Me: A Philosophical Explanation of the Possibility That We Are the Same Person.

We never talked much about dissertation topics on our lunch breaks, Frenchie and I, but I can imagine what he'd say if I'd brought up the subject.

Frenchie would say "What da 'ell good are dey?"

He'd have a point.

Here are some dissertation topics that earned their authors PhDs over the past few years. I've also included the profound conclusion reached in each case:

The Enthusiasm of Aerobic Dance Instructors As A Factor In Student Re-enrollment. (Finding: Class scheduling and location are more important.)

Sociable Speech in The American Slumber Party. (Conclusion: Girls at slumber parties tell ghost stories and use 'ritual insult' as a form of humour, saying things like, 'You remind me of a dog's rear'.)

The Characteristics of Rock Climbers. (Finding: Expertise in rock climbing is significantly related to frequency of practice and years of experience. Finding Number Two: Inexperienced climbers prefer easier ascents, while expert climbers favour more difficult ones.)

People got degrees for this?

Trees died for this??

Sure glad I don't have to explain it to Frenchie.

Hospital decision was not financially sound

Editor:

We're sure you have heard of computer viruses. There are insidious sub-routines inserted into computer programs which cause the computer to turn logical data inputs into complete garbage in the output cycle. There has always been the suspicion that the same thing can happen to the human mind. Once again we have proof!

The case in point is the decision made by the Health Care Planning and Development Committee where a majority of members took logical, straightforward economic and demographic input data and turned it into an illogical decision to place 30 long-term care beds at the Haliburton Hospital.

However, now that some of the initial dust has settled over this issue, we will try to be objective in our comments.

First, in view of his decision to resign, we want to thank Mr. Doug Campbell for his years of work on this committee and his unstinting efforts to develop studies on population distribution, travel statistics etc. to give us a clear picture of the demographics of our county. Thank you for a job well done Doug, and in view of the final decision which was made, we can only applaud your decision to resign. Please don't disappear though, we need the odd "loose cannon" like you around.

Secondly, we can't help remaining curious, no a better word would be furious, about the decision made by a majority of the committee supposedly representing the best interests of the county.

As first seasonal, then full-time residents of Haliburton County on Halls Lake and Mountain Lake for 60 years (that's since 1933) we have no interest in the ongoing rivalry between the towns of Minden and Haliburton. It all seems so pointless when you consider what could be done if we worked together as parts of the same area.

Our concern instead, as long-term tax-payers in the county and the province, is with the complete disregard of the economics of this decision. If the $1.4 million shortfall on capital cost isn't enough to scare us, then the ongoing, year after year, additional operating cost of $160,000 sure as hell is. What will that grow in to over the years?

As to assurances by committee members that much of the capital costs will be reduced in construction, it makes you wonder just how far the "computer virus" has invaded their "computers". Mr. Hodgson's suggestion that Dysart et al tax-payers foot the bill for $500,000 worth of site preparation, land acquisition etc. seems unrealistic at best. Is this money included in this year's budget or will it appear next year? Mr. Collins' suggestion of free or half price labour donated by residents is nice, but it is a very shaky way to finance and launch a construction project of this magnitude. It will not be well received by either St. Joseph's Hospital board of the Ministry of Health.

Why the decision was made not to add the 30 beds to the existing county facility (Hyland Crest) with all the resulting economies of scale in both construction and ongoing operating cost, will forever remain a mystery, we suppose. Unless we just label it misplaced politics. But the results will probably be catastrophic. Given today's economic climate with no easy money available, the whole project will be laughed out of any consideration for funding and nothing will be built anywhere.

Frankly, ladies and gentlemen of the committee, the whole thing is a mess. As individual tax-payers, we implore you to re-think your positions with sound business judgement and consideration for all the people of the county, tax-payers included. Reverse your decision and vote to add the 30 beds to the existing county Home before we lose everything.

Betty and Bill Roszell

P.S. Tax Coalition, where are you when we need you?

Lessons learned outside of school

Editor:

Answer to Sheri Bambrugh's questions and remarks, The Times, May 3.

The reason we did not find out about our son's illiteracy for such a long time was that we were too busy. I was starting up a business, working on that in the daytime and working as an orderly in a hospital at night. My wife was an O.R. nurse in a Toronto hospital. We taught our son good manners and all that at home, but teaching him to read and write we left to the school. After all, he spent all day with professionally trained teachers just for that purpose.

Peter wasn't an isolated case. We were told at the time that there was a waiting list of more than 100 children for the program in the church basement, but due to his advanced age and total blankness they agreed to take him for one winter. After that he went back to public school where he learned nothing. What education he ended up with he got in the church basement and from private tutors coming to our home after school.

Why weren't we told that Peter didn't learn anything in school? Well, my impression at the time was that the teachers didn't know, and how that could happen I never understood. How can a teacher write a report card when he/she hasn't got the foggiest idea how that child is doing?

Your child brings home a piece of paper. Can he go to the Toronto Exhibition next Thursday? How could you possibly say no when all the other children are going?

I had a lot of phone calls, all of them, except one, amounting to about the same: "...I agree with you 100%". One gentleman apparently disagreed. He told me that I was a dummy like my kid. Unfortunately I didn't get to say a word because he hung up promptly. I would have liked to tell him that he could very well be right on that one.

Minden hardball season underway

This year there will be more boys of summer than ever before in the Minden area.

Four new teams, all under the new Minden Royals hardball organization banner, will be taking to the ball diamonds this summer after a large number of boys signed up in early March.

Two pee wee teams (ages 12-13), one tyke (ages 10-11) and one bantam team (ages 14-15) will be playing against foes from Victoria and Brock townships. It is the first time hardball teams have been formed for these age groups in Minden, although the Minden Recreational Baseball League has been running for four years.

The Royals are the most northern, and the newest, entry in the seven-year-old Victoria-Brock league. Other areas represented in the northern division include Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Cobocok, Cambray, Cameron and Lindsay.

Royals president, and also a pee wee level coach, Lonnie Davis says they approached the Victoria-Brock league in January to see if they could get a team set up here in Minden. The league agreed and in early March the fledgling organization set up a meeting to see how much interest there was from local youths. The response they got was very high.

"Pretty well right off the bat we got the players we have, which is about 48. At the bantam level the older boys had to decide whether they wanted to work or not, but we got enough," says Davis who along with his wife Judy and Jack Saunders form the core of the organizers.

While they play teams from outside the county, it may seem like the Royals are also in competition with the recreational softball league for players. Players who suit up for the Royals can not play softball, but Davis says the older league has been a lot of help.

"The softball league has supported us a lot. Most of their teams were overloaded last year anyway, but they have cooperated fully."

The Royals have also received support from local and out-of-town businesses. The tykes are being sponsored by Mattsson's Country Club while the pee wee teams have Carnarvon Lumber, Highland Plumbing and Ridgewood Ford on side. While the bantams do not have a sponsor, Nebb Concrete Forming and Kenmark

Redmen trackers come up tops in Lindsay

Four local high school athletes set records at Kawartha West track tourney

by Andy Holloway

(LINDSAY) Haliburton Highlands Redmen athletes took a big step forward last Thursday at the Kawartha West track finals at LCVI as they set seven records en route to 36 first place finishes.

If you remember last year's stellar track performance, those in front of the pack will be familiar names. In her first year at the junior level Anna Tomlinson continues to leap far ahead of her competitors. Tomlinson broke two records at the finals in the long jump (with a leap of 4.84 metres) and the triple jump (with a jump of 10.11 metres).

Over on the boys side, Chris Greenfield and Endres Weber, two senior athletes who have benefitted from training at York University in Toronto, easily won their respective events. Endres Weber jumped 3.74 metres to set a record in the pole vault while Greenfield set records in both the 200 and 400 metre runs. Greenfield's time of 23.4 seconds was good enough to set the 200 metre standard while his 52.4 second run in the 400 metres was also a record.

As a junior, Andy Bacon also set two records, one in the long jump with a winning performance of 6.26 metres and another in the 200 metre run where he ran it in 23.26 seconds.

The Redmen will face stiffer competition this week as they run up against the best from the Peterborough area in the Kawartha finals. Top finishers there will move onto the Central Ontario finals. After that comes the Eastern Ontario finals followed by the all-Ontarios.

crete Forming and Kenmark Sand and Gravel bought equipment for all four teams. The Rockcliffe Hustlers donated money while Spot 97 supplied the equipment and Special Effects did the printing.

The end result of this effort began paying off last Sunday as two of the Royals teams began play. This Sunday, and every Sunday thereafter, all four teams will be in action starting at 11 a.m. As to whether they will win many games in their initial season remains to be seen.

"We hope that we'll be competitive and have a lot of fun. Hopefully the boys will learn things and then they can build that on to the next season. But the main thing is to have fun," says Davis.

If you want to be an umpire for the Royals' home games contact either Davis or Saunders.

Badminton pair off to Ontario championship

Birdie smash

High school seniors Lindsay Francis and Jonathan Bishop are soaring as they team up in mixed badminton action. The pair recently won a silver medal at the Central Ontario championships and moved on to the All-Ontario showdown.

Lindsay Francis and Jonathan Bishop win silver at Trinity College

Congratulations go out to both the junior and senior badminton teams who participated in the COSSA badminton championships. Both teams came home with several medals.

Unfortunately, COSSA is as far as junior badminton players can go, but for one senior team, the season continues.

The mixed doubles team of Lindsay Francis and Jonathan Bishop will be going on to the all-Ontario badminton championships at Brock University in St. Catharines.

Jonathan and Lindsay captured the silver medal at COSSA, which was held last week at Trinity College. The two ended up in the gold medal game against a very strong team from Crestwood high school and were narrowly defeated 2 games to 1. They then moved on to the next game which decided who would win the silver medal and who the bronze. To qualify for OFSAA, Jonathan and Lindsay had to win this game.

The game began in their opponents' favour as they jumped ahead

7 - 0. However, the rest of the game was easily controlled by Bishop and Francis and they won the silver medal by 2 games to 0.

Lindsay and Jonathan are now looking forward to an exciting weekend of badminton and we all hope that they are able to show as much enthusiasm and skill on the court at Brock as the did during COSSA.

Softball is back in town

While the Minden Royals hardball team will be heating up the competitive baseball circuit this summer, the Minden Minor Baseball League returns with another summer of recreational fun.

The league, which was started up as a way to keep children active during the non-hockey months, is still going strong and games will begin later this month culminating in the annual tournament in August.

Fashion tips for festival fans

by Russ Duhaime

Toss aside those neon shirts. Fashion-smart folks are wearing plaid this summer. Comfortable denim jeans hitched up by brightly-coloured suspenders will complete the wardrobe for this June's ultimate fashion statement. The suspenders in particular will be all the rage on the streets of Minden on June 12.

Over at Northland Sales, store owner Stuart Brandon is negotiating with supplier to ensure a solid stock of suspenders to meet the anticipated demand. Brandon knows suspenders will be all the rage when the lumberjacks arrive in town and he's making sure his customers won't be disappointed.

Why plaid? Why suspenders? The answer is this: 30 of the most rugged axe-flailing lumberjacks on the continent are coming to Minden for a full day of rough and tumble competition. They'll be climbing poles, straining with cross-cut saws, racing the engines of their chain saws and generally stirring up a lot of saw dust.

They won't be wearing fluorescent pink, orange and green shirts, and neither will any of the thousands of spectators who give a hoot about their appearance. If your clothing must make noise, let it be the suspenders that do the talking.

In fact, Brandon says the louder the better. He's expecting a shipment of suspenders this week to suit all tastes. For the traditional folks, there will be the solid reds, blacks and blues. And for wild and crazy people, there will be equally wild and crazy colours and patterns.

June 12 will mark Minden's first Timbersport Festival and

If your clothing must make noise, let your suspenders do the talking. Loud suspenders are the trademark of Minden's first Timbersport Festival on June 12 and prizes are being offered to the spectators with the most outlandish costumes. Stuart Brandon from Northland Sales is stocking up on suspenders of all stripes and colours for the event.

chief organizer Pat Murphy is anticipating a large crowd to fill the downtown area throughout the day. He says timbersport is a show-type activity which is rapidly growing in popularity in Ontario. He got involved a month back when the concept of hosting one in town was swept up by the BIA and Minden Council.

Timbersport events are almost as exciting for spectators as they are for the competitors, says Murphy. He says the crowds get right into the heat of the events, cheering on the competitors as they race against each other and against the clock. It's an exciting fast-paced competition, laced with enthusiasm from the audience.

Dressing up for the festival is a big part of the fun. Murphy says it adds to the colour and atmosphere of the event.

Timbersport organizers shooting for festival atmosphere

"If we get a few thousand people walking around in red suspenders, that's a spectacle in itself," he says.

Timbersport competitions are relatively new to Ontario and their rise in popularity is partially owed to Lochlin resident Joe Outram.

Outram used to work for Ontario Hydro and represented the Minden area at lumberjack contests. Two years ago he travelled to Australia and New Zealand and was impressed with the level of attention paid to this activity. When he returned to Ontario, Outram set out to establish an Ontario Timbersport Association.

This summer there will be 12 Timbersport competitions on the Ontario circuit and Minden's is offering the richest prizes. With generous contributions from the BIA and the municipality, organizers are able to offer $3,000 in prizes. In addition, several area businesses will be provide material prizes for individual events in the competition.

The competition end of Timbersport is just part of the festivities. Murphy says the ultimate goal is to build the event into a full-scale theme festival.

Depending on the success of this year's Timbersport, Murphy is hoping it can grow into a week-end festival for future years.

Considering Timbersport was just introduced as a concept about a month ago, the progress in developing the festival is tremendous. In addition to the competitions, Murphy says there will also be an area for local business to display their goods. The parking area surrounding the municipal offices are being set aside to set up booths where displays of antique tools, wood stoves and a variety of other objects relating to wood or lumber industries will be located.

Minden Lions have best road trip record

by Maurice Boyd, Minden Lions Club

On the weekend of April 25, 26 and 27, the Lions and Lioness Clubs' of District A-16 seventeenth convention was held in Newmarket. There were 479 registered participants. With the 1992-93 year coming to a close, District trophies and awards were presented to very deserving clubs and individuals. District Governor Dale St. John praised the clubs on their fine work and their support for him in the past year.

The Minden and District Lions Club was presented with the Past District Governor Gord Forgie Trophy for the best visitation record in the district. Thanks must go to all the Minden Lions that took part in all the traveling, sometimes under severe weather conditions. These visitations were done under the fine supervision of Lion Scott Moore. Well done Scott.

Governor Dale St. John made a very impressive presentation to our Club, of the Past District Governor's Cup. All our Lions present were called to the podium to receive this honour.

Lion Greg Readman, our bulletin editor, received his award for the Best Bi-Monthly Bulletin in the Club category, 39 members or less. We all know how much time and effort Lion Greg puts into this most informative bulletin. Congratulations Lion Greg.

The Minden Lioness Club members came away with two well deserved awards. Lioness Janet Readman, Secretary for her club, received the Connie Coulter Award. This trophy goes to the most active Lioness at all levels of Lioness. The Lioness First Year Bulletin Award was received by Lioness Doris Thompson. Congratulations Lioness Doris for your outstanding first year as Bulletin Editor.

Saturday at the convention was parade day. The weather co-operated by the rain holding off until mid-afternoon. The main street of Newmarket was lined with enthusiastic parade viewers. There were 39 floats, 3 marching bands, 2 non-Lion marching groups and hundreds of Lions and Lionesses.

The 1993-94 Board of Directors for our club is as follows: President, Lee Oster; 1st V.P., Daryl Moore; 2nd V.P., Tom Gardner; 3rd V.P., Brian Moore; Secretary, Greg Readman; Treasurer, George Moulton; Lion Tamer, Nick Boekestyn; Tail Twister, Bob Harrington; 1 Yr. Director, Scott Moore; 2 Yr. Director, High McIntyre. These Lions will take office on July 1, 1993.

Our club has had a very good 1992-93 and is looking forward to an even better year to come. At the present time our membership has increased by one, with two more being considered. Welcome to our newest Lion, Mr. Bob Harrington.

At the convention business session on Sunday, Region Chairman Daryl Moore's report was interrupted for applause by Lions and Lionesses of the district in appreciation of Region 52 having the highest increase in membership and highest percentage of Camp Kirk shares in the district. Congratulations Lion Daryl for a very good year as Regional Chairman.

Our Thursday night bingo has done very well this winter and we are anticipating a great summer. Your support of the food bank early bird game is most gratifying. As of April 29, we have been able to purchase $3000 worth of food and merchandise for the food bank and have $2628 in reserve to assist them in their future needs.

On Sunday, May 2, the Lionesses had another Mega Bingo to assist them in raising funds to support their many community projects. During Sunday's bingo, the Lionesses presented the Highland Dancers with $500 to assist them with their expenses. Another Lioness pie sale will take place on Saturday, May 22 on Main St.

The Lions hope to see you also on Saturday 22, as we are having our second annual toll booth. Your voluntary contributions will be greatly appreciated. We have many community projects planned for the coming year.

Arthritis Society provides library with video set to improve understanding of the disease

The Arthritis Society was pleased to present the Minden library with a nine video set entitled "The Faces Of Arthritis" recently. grams provide an overview of the Arthritis Society.

The nine videos cover the following topics: The Arthritis Society Ontario Division, Arthritis And It's Treatment, Major Types of Arthritis, Arthritis Research, Surgery For Arthritis, Managing Your Arthritis, Physiotherapy For Arthritis, Occupational Therapy For Arthritis, Arthritis Remedies: Proven and Unproven.

The mission statement of the Arthritis Society is to search for the underlying causes and subsequent cures for arthritis while promoting the best possible care for people with arthritis.

The tapes are available for loan from the Minden Library.

Open for business

Spring brings new life to Heritage Plaza

Spot 97 Sports and Fitness is an established business which has now expanded its services in the Heritage Plaza.

For the past few years, Spot 97 operated solely as a fitness club. In the spring, however, the business took on a new dimension with the opening of a sporting goods business on the plaza's upper level.

Brian Shaw, co-owner of the Spot 97 fitness centre, was one of the key movers behind the expansion. Shaw and his brother Barry decided a sporting goods store would be an excellent complement to the fitness centre.

"The combination of sports and fitness is a nice complement," said Shaw. "We're excited about it."

The Shaws are also glad to have Greg Carpenter as the store manager. Carpenter's involvement in sports in the community is an asset, says Shaw. He's also very personable and customer-service oriented.

Carpenter says he has confidence in the store's potential. Spot 97 stocks a wide variety of clothing, footwear and equipment at competitive prices. And what they don't stock can be ordered in, says Carpenter.

Not all that's new at Spot 97 is happening on the upper floor of the plaza. The fitness centre is also expanding its programs with the introduction of a boxing club.

The new boxing club had its first practice Saturday morning. The club is being coached by Parker Pepper, who also runs a club in the Bracebridge area.

Spot 97 owner Barry Shaw slam dunks a basketball to celebrate the expansion of the sporting business at Minden's Heritage Plaza while manager Greg Carpenter and co-owner Brian Shaw smile on.

From head to toe, new biz on the go

Minden's Heritage Plaza is enjoying renewed vitality with the recent opening of new businesses, the latest of which pampers its clients extreme needs.

Tips to Toes is the newest addition to the busy plaza at the entrance to town. Debbie Cunningham opened the small shop last month and is now providing manicures and pedicures to her new customers. Tips to Toes will also do artificial nails, waxing, and various skin treatments.

Prior to her move to the area, Cunningham ran a clinic in Toronto. She said she sold the business and moved to the Kinmount area. She opened her new business in the Heritage Plaza in April and says things are going very well.

Cunningham says Heritage Plaza is proving to be an excellent location for her business. "It's the perfect spot for me," she says. The other business owners are friendly and supportive. "They're super people," she says. In addition, she has found the other businesses complement her clinic. Cox's apparel and Headlines Hairstyling, for example, cater to many of the same customers who will frequent Tips to Toes.

Heritage Plaza is "just the right location," she says. And as word of mouth spreads, she's optimistic her business will continue to prosper.

Above: Mary Endicotte has a manicure done by Debbie Cunningham (left), the owner of Tips to Toes, a beauty salon which recently opened in the Heritage Plaza.

Below: Mabel Clendenning (left) and Debbie Carpenter are the hairdressers at Headlines Hairstyling, which has been in business at the Heritage Plaza for a year. Headlines should blend in well with Tips to Toes.

Bunker's sawmill takes Agnes Jamieson Gallery best of the show award

The votes are all in, tallied and once again the attention to detail and meticulous craftsmanship of Merv Bunker has captured the admiration of patrons at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden.

For the third year in a row, Bunker's work has been voted the best of the show in the annual Peoples' Choice Awards.

This year Bunker took top spot in the multi-media section with his working scale model of a sawmill. The cut-away model featured all the details of an actual sawmill including a spinning, round saw blade, log carriage, which tracked back and forth pushing the logs through the blade, and bell tower.

The attention to detail was evident in the small touches. Hanging by the entrance to the sawmill was a miniature cross-cut saw while nearby a cant hook, made to scale, was within the operator's reach.

The only concession to modern day was that the workings of the mill were powered by an electric motor. Bunker is working on a steam powered model. Prior to the announcement of the winners last Saturday (May 1), he captivated an audience of young and old alike as he set the mill in motion and cut several slabs from the sumac "logs".

There were 45 entries in the show in three categories. The sawmill placed first in the multi-media section. Second was Ron Robinson's marquetry rendering of "The Cat" while Karl Hamilton's "Victorian Window" in stained glass was third.

Placing first in the painting category was Peter Pennington with his intriguing three pictures in one entitled "The Farmer in the Glen." As the viewer changed perspective on the work one of three scenes emerged, all related to the farming theme. Second place was taken by Gil Parcell with his oil painting, "Anticipation", while Joan Hoad captured third place with "Summer Flowers".

In the fabric and yarn section, first place went to Eleanor Bunker with her "Aunt Mary's Rose Quilt". Judy Chapman took second with a chenille pull-over while Jeanne Bowron was third with a table cloth.

During the past month, visitors to the gallery were invited to vote for their favourite in each of the three categories and select one from all the entries as their favourite. 110 votes were cast.

Merv Bunker, in the foreground, held the rapt attention of the audience, as he put his working sawmill model through its paces.

Eleanor Bunker, right, displays her first place entry in the fabric and yarn division, "Aunt Mary's Rose Quilt".

United ladies serve tea

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

To begin another week, it was the usual activities but with no extra entertainment. My son and his Norma took me to the Home Show in the curling club and I saw a friend I knew before I came to Hyland Crest and several friends I've made since coming here followed by coffee and a nice talk.

Sunday, Anita Smith came to read for us. We thank her very much. In the evening, Reverend John Burgess led the Sunday evening Chapel Service accompanied by Lorna Rowland at the organ. We thank them both.

Monday, those busy auxiliary ladies held their monthly meeting in the auditorium to plan their future events.

Peter Fearrey led a discussion on fire safety. It was a very beneficial meeting for all.

Tuesday morning, the Chapel Service was conducted by Louise Leonard and Evelyn Coleman. The residents greatly appreciate this service and thank Louise and Evelyn.

Wednesday morning, Dottie Muirhead read the local paper for the residents. Dottie is certainly a very dependable reader. Thanks Dottie.

Thursday, the ladies of Haliburton

United Church were the hostesses for our Thursday and monthly birthday tea. The ladies who provided the lunch and beautiful birthday cake were: Glenna Beckham (who played the piano), Hilda Sealby, Mary Packard, Velma Sine, Beulah Taylor, Betty Inglis, Helen Archer and Eleanor Holmes. The residents appreciate the delicious tea and birthday cake very much. The birthday girls were: Lillian Davidson and Margaret LeBoutillier - both on April 29. We sincerely thank the Haliburton ladies. (Sorry I missed it.)

Happy Hour was held in the auditorium on Friday. The entertainment was provided by Ursula Neitch playing her accordion accompanied on the piano by Doris Robertson-Alton and Grace Coburn led the singing. The volunteers were Ellen and Don Holden. The residents and friends thank all who made the afternoon possible.

I had a surprise visit from two of my nieces, Norma Baddow and Mary Dale from Oakwood. I was happy to see them.

Legion ladies host convention

The Minden Legion Ladies Auxiliary will be hosting the F-4 Zone Convention on May 16.

Members from 13 ladies auxiliaries will be attending the convention. "We are expecting 150 ladies and approximately 40 flags, which in itself is a magnificent sight," says Laurey Roodenburg.

The ladies will be parading to the cenotaph for the service, then proceeding back to the Minden Community Centre for the convention, meal and comradeship. The community is welcome to join in the service at the cenotaph, which begins at 1 p.m.

You've seen the ads and heard the rumours;
Now come and try it for yourself.

China not heeding environmental call

The most basic notion in environmentalism is that all life on Earth is linked by sharing the air, water and soil. That's why the fate of the Amazon rain forest, the North Sea or the Great Whale River is a concern to all people.

Most of the global pollution and resource depletion today results from the consumptive demands and economic growth in the richest 20 percent of the world. For the poorest fifth, the only priority is survival from day to day. But for the middle three-fifths of humanity, including people in China, India, Brazil and Indonesia, we are the role model for their aspirations. But if we have been profligate with the world's ecological commons, developing countries see no reason to be different and stop pollution, reduce carbon dioxide production, protect forests and refrain from using CFCs.

I spent a riveting afternoon with two successful young Hong Kong developers who are expanding their fathers' business. Benjamin Fok is a director of Henry Fok Ying Tung Group of Companies and Peter Lee is heavily involved in energy projects. Both were educated in universities in the West and maintain close ties with Canada. They are bright and ambitious and compete with the world's best. What they told me was compelling, urgent and ultimately, terrifying. Here's some of what they said.

Unlike the recession-ridden industrialized countries, China is undergoing an economic boom. Officially the GDP rose last year by 12.8 percent but "I think it's more like 30 percent!", Fok says. He was trying to convey the frenetic rate of development he is involved in. Lee says while most of today's environmental problems are caused by the past 40 years growth in the West, China is intent on vaulting the same distance in less than 10 and shows no interest in the ecological consequences.

A key part of China's economic growth is electricity and in the past three months alone, Lee told me, contract have been signed to build power plants to

by David Suzuki

deliver three GIGAWATTS of power! All of it will be generated by burning coal. When I groaned that coal is the worst greenhouse gas polluter, Lee shot back "So is nuclear better?" When Fok and I both demurred, Lee said, "China needs electricity and if there are better sources than coal or nuclear, you'd better show us right away because those plants are going up now. And there will be a lot more."

Costly pollution controls are not affordable if China is to continue this miraculous boom and compete globally. Foreigners are rushing into China, often selling outmoded technologies that are banned in their home countries.

The result is air and water pollution as horrifying as any reported from the former Soviet bloc nations. "The most polluted places in Canada are pure and clean in comparison," Fok said.

People in China are migrating to cities for jobs and Fok believes this is good because in cities birth rates drop and transportation and housing are more efficient. Fok is currently building a brand new city for 20,000 people and wants to incorporate the best ideas to minimize its environmental impact. But after travelling across North America, he was unable to find expertise that was of any use. To Fok's father, environmental concerns are an abstract, self-indulgent fad and his bottom line is whether it pays. But costing is not easy when economics externalize environmental costs.

To Lee and Fok, retrofitting pollution control is exorbitantly expensive in industrialized countries. In China, pollution control would give more bang-for-buck.

One factory alone currently produces 60 percent of all of China's refrigerators and air conditioners, all with CFCs. So changing that one plant would have enormous repercussions. Fok and Lee urge environmentalists to bring the latest ideas and technologies to China now while the infrastructural foundation is being laid.

I first visited China in 1979 when all of China's energy use was the same as Canada's. I wrote then that if the Chinese merely wanted to buy motorbikes, the resource demand and pollution would be immense. But now there is a large and growing number who can afford and want a car. As soon as roads are built, they will be jammed, I was told.

Fok and Lee were adamant that the issue of democracy in China is a red herring. "I could stand in the middle of Beijing and say all kinds of insults to Deng," Fok said, "and nothing would happen."

The West has to recognize what's going on and provide information on the real costs of pollution and more efficient technologies. If we don't, China will merely repeat our destructive mistakes. And a successful China will be an inspirational beacon for India (booming an eight percent growth last year), Brazil and other developing countries of the world.

If they don't take a different path, they will polish off what we in the rich countries started.

CARDS OF THANKS

After a morning of collecting litter from the streets of Minden, we were rewarded with a barbecue. Minden Brownies and their families wish to thank the following businesses for their contributions which made our barbecue a huge success: Dollo's IGA, Westside Jug City, Kawartha Dairy and Iron Kettle Maple Products. Thanks also to Gary Bloor, Ralph Bleakley, Charlene Austen, Ralph Berry, Kim Colliss and all the others who assisted us in this endeavour.

1st and 2nd Minden Brownies.

The family of the late Austin Henderson wish to express their sincere appreciation to all their friends and family for their visits, cards and phone calls. A very special thanks to Dr. Lynagh and the nursing staff at Minden Hospital. Also special thanks to Gordon A.
